

Miss Vogt's Third Grade Newsletter

February 15th, 2023

Next week is another short week! As a reminder, we are off tomorrow for a teacher work day and Monday for Presidents Day.

We are still raising money for Hearts and Hope for Uganda at chapel! Keep filling those envelopes and bringing them in!

Math

This week we did a school wide survey of favorite candy! We asked every student, from the two year olds to the 8th graders! Next week we will be showing this information on posters. We will write the numbers out using words, and create vertical and horizontal bar graphs, a tally chart, and a pictograph! It's a fun way to wrap up the unit!

Science

Next week we are doing a short project on animal traits! Today we picked out some animals that we want to research. Next week we will create presentations on their physical and behavioral traits, and share those presentations with our classmates!

Social Studies

This week we started a project on some of the most important people of the Revolution. Each group got assigned a person. First, they made a mini book of that person. Next week, they will become 'experts' on that person by creating a Google Slides presentation and teaching the rest of the class!

Religion

Next week we will have Faith Family meetings! Not only do we sit with our Faith Families at Chapel each week, we also get to meet with them once in a while to do fun activities as a group! We will meet on Tuesday morning in place of Chapel and our topic will be responsibility.

Reading

Next week we are starting a brand new novel - Frindle! Andrew Clements is a very popular author amongst third graders. His stories are relatable and hilarious! I'm excited to dive into this one with our class.

Writing

We are starting a new unit on poetry! Each week, we will be writing a different type of poetry. We will hang them all in the hallway as we write them and create our own third grade poetry wall! Next week we're starting with 5 Senses Poetry.
